Legal Duties of Board Members Volunteers

The Board of Directors is the governing body of the association, responsible for the ultimate direction of the management of the affairs of the organization. Board members are obliged to become familiar with WPRA's Bylaws, Operations Handbook which contains policies and procedures, and other governing documents related to the operation of WPRA.

The board is responsible for policymaking, while employees (and to a certain extent, officers) are responsible for executing day-to-day management to implement board-made policy. However, the ultimate legal responsibility for the actions (and inactions) of the association rests with the board.

The board can act legally only by consensus (majority vote of a quorum) and only at a duly constituted and conducted meeting, or by unanimous written consent. The board may delegate authority to act on its behalf to others (Executive Committee), but, in such cases, the board is still legally responsible for any actions taken by Board committees or persons to whom it delegates authority. An individual board member has no individual management authority simply by virtue of being a member of the board. However, the board may delegate additional authority to a board member such as when it appoints board members to committees. In a similar fashion, an officer has only the management authority specifically delegated in the bylaws or by the board (although the delegated authority can be general and broad.

The Executive Committee shall have all the authority of the Board of Directors, except for the following matters which are reserved to the full Board of Directors:

- Submission of action requiring Board of Directors approval under the Not-for-Profit Law of Wisconsin
- Filling of vacancies on the Executive Committee or Board of Directors other than those appointments delegated to the Executive Committee
- · Amendment or repeal of the bylaws
- Amendment or repeal of any resolution of the Board of Directors
- Members have no management authority, as such authority is held by the Board of Directors.

Employees have no management authority except that specifically delegated to them in the bylaws or by the board. The Executive Director shall have responsibility for and control of administrative staff, including the hiring and dismissal of staff. The Executive Director shall initiate and participate in the formation of new policies and make decisions within existing policies approved by the Board, assure that organizational objectives are attained and member needs addressed, and provide management and leadership to complement constructive growth and function of WPRA.

Fiduciary Duty

Those in positions of responsibility and authority in the governance structure of an association - both volunteers who serve without compensation and employed staff - have a fiduciary duty to the organization, including duties of care, loyalty, and obedience. In short, this means they are required to act reasonably, prudently and in the best interests of the organization, to avoid negligence and fraud, and to avoid conflicts of interest. In the event that the fiduciary duties of care, loyalty or obedience are breached, the individual breaching the duty is potentially liable to the association for any damages caused to the association as a result of the breach. This fiduciary duty is a duty to the association as a whole; even those who only serve on a particular committee or task force owe the fiduciary obligation to the entire association.

- 1. Duty of Care This duty is very broad, requiring officers and board members to exercise ordinary and reasonable care in the performance of their duties, exhibiting honesty and good faith. Board members must act in a manner which they believe to be in the best interests of the association, and with such care, including reasonable inquiry, as an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would use under similar circumstances. The "business judgment rule" protects board members from personal liability for actions made in poor judgment as long as there is a reasonable basis to indicate that the action was undertaken with due care and in good faith.
- 2. Duty of Loyalty This is a duty of faithfulness to the association. This means that officers and board members must give undivided allegiance to the association when making decisions affecting the association. In other words, board members cannot put personal interests above the interests of the association. Personal interests may include outside business, professional or financial interests, interests arising from involvement in other organizations, and the interests of family members, among others. Board members should be careful to disclose even potential conflicts of interest to the board of directors and should recuse themselves from deliberation and voting on matters in which they have personal interests. For pervasive and continuing conflicts - such as a WPRA board member concurrently serving on the board of a competing association resignation from the individual's association leadership post or from the outside conflicting responsibility may be required. Officers and directors can have business dealings with the association, but such transactions must be subject to considerable scrutiny. In such event, board members must fully disclose any personal interests to the board of directors, and the terms of any transaction must be fair to the association. In addition, state nonprofit corporation statutes frequently provide specific procedures for dealing with transactions in which board members have conflicts of interest
- 3. Duty of Obedience This duty requires board members to act in accordance with the organization's articles of incorporation, bylaws and other governing documents, as well as all applicable laws and regulations.

Reliance on Experts

Unless a board member has knowledge that makes reliance unwarranted, a board member, in performing his or her duties to the organization, may rely on written or oral information, opinions, reports, or statements prepared or presented by: (i) officers or employees of the association whom the officer or director believes in good faith to be reliable and competent in the matters presented; (ii) legal counsel, public accountants, or other persons as to matters which the officer or director believes in good faith to be within the person's professional or expert competence; or (iii) in the case of reliance by directors, a committee of the board on which the director does not serve if the director believes in good faith that the committee merits confidence.

Willful Ignorance and Intentional Wrongdoing

Board members cannot remain willfully ignorant of the affairs of the association. A director appointed as treasurer, for example, with limited knowledge of finance cannot simply rely on the representations and reports of staff or auditors that "all is well" with the association's finances. Moreover, board members acting outside of or abusing their authority as board members may be subject to personal liability arising from such actions. Furthermore, board members who, in the course of the association's work, intentionally cause injury or damage to persons or property may be personally liable, even though the activity was carried out on behalf of the association.

Reducing Personal Liability Risk

Board members can help minimize their risk of personal liability by doing the following

- Being thoroughly and completely prepared before making decisions.
- Becoming actively involved in deliberations during board meetings, commenting as appropriate, and making inquiries and asking questions where prudent and when such a need is indicated by the circumstances.
- Making decisions deliberately and without undue haste or pressure.
- Insisting that meeting minutes accurately reflect the vote counts (including dissenting votes and abstentions) on actions taken at meetings.
- Requesting that legal consultation be sought on any matter that has unclear legal ramifications.
- Requesting that the association's accountants assess and evaluate any matter that has significant financial ramifications.
- Obtaining and carefully reviewing both audited and unaudited periodic financial reports of the association.
- Attending the association's meetings and reading the association's publications carefully to keep fully apprised of the organization's policies and activities.
- Reviewing from time to time the association's bylaws and other governing documents.
- Avoiding completely any conflicts of interest in dealing with the association and fully disclosing any potential conflicts.

Liability Protection

If preventive risk management fails, the liability of association board members can be limited through indemnification by the association, insurance purchased by the association, and state volunteer protection laws.

WPRA Non-Profit Organization Directors and Officers Liability Insurance

WPRA provides liability insurance for Directors, officers, employees, volunteers, the organization and its committee members. The types of liability covered by the policy exist not only for the organization, but also for those who run it. It is very important to recognize that the Board of Directors, officers and employees of the organization may have personal liability for many of the covered actions and that personal assets may be attached as a result of an adverse judgment. It will also pay costs to defend the individual(s) and or the organization for covered "wrongful acts". Coverage is for wrongful acts committed by a covered party or group of covered parties while acting within the scope of their duties to the organization. A wrongful act is an act, error, omission, misstatement or misleading statement, neglect or breach of duty. Typical examples are management of funds (not benefit plans), management of the affairs of the organization, employment practices, publishers liability (copyright, plagiarism), libel, slander or defamation. Examples of items NOT covered are bodily injury or property damage, insured gaining profit or advantage not legally entitled to, willful violation of a statute, claim brought by one insured against another except wrongful termination, fiduciary liability as regards employee benefit or pension plans.

Apparent Authority

In the landmark 1982 case, American Society of Mechanical Engineers v. Hydrolevel, the U.S. Supreme Court determined that an association can be held liable for the actions of its officers, directors and other volunteers (including actions which bind the association financially), even when the association does not know about, approve of, or benefit from those actions, as long as the volunteer reasonably appears to outsiders to be acting with the association's approval (i.e., with its "apparent authority"). The Supreme Court made clear that associations are to be held strictly liable for the activities of volunteers that have even the apparent authority of the association. Even if an association volunteer does not in fact have authority to act in a particular manner on behalf of the association, the law will nevertheless hold the association liable if third parties reasonably believe that the volunteer had such authority. The law thus requires an association to take reasonable steps to ensure that the scope of its agents' (e.g., officers, directors and committee members') authority is clear to third parties, and that agents are not able to hold themselves out to third parties as having authority beyond that which has been vested in them by the association - for example, by regulating access to association letterhead stationery.

Association Tax Status

An association's tax-exempt status impacts everything from its dues statements to its internal accounting procedures to its membership promotional materials to the structure of a trade show and annual meetings. Although association's board members need not, and will not, understand the particulars of these requirements, they should appreciate the fact that they exist and that staff is, to a certain degree, bound by those requirements. Non-profit associations can risk their exempt status by

- Focusing on providing services to members rather than on promoting the industry in general
- Providing benefits to individual members that are not available to others,
- Engaging primarily in for-profit activities.

WPRA is under section 501(c)6 of the Internal Revenue Service Code and must pay sales tax.

Antitrust Information

Associations are subject to strict scrutiny under both federal and state antitrust laws. The Sherman Act, the principal federal antitrust statute, prohibits "contracts, combinations, or conspiracies ... in restraint of trade." By their very nature, associations are a "combination" of competitors, so one element of a possible antitrust violation is always present, and only some action by the association that unreasonably restrains trade needs to occur for there to be an antitrust violation. Consequently, associations are common targets of antitrust plaintiffs and prosecutors.

The consequences for violating the antitrust laws can be severe. A conviction can carry stiff fines for the association and its offending leaders, jail sentences for individuals who participated in the violation, and a court order dissolving the association or seriously curtailing its activities. The antitrust laws can be enforced against associations, association members, and the association's employees by both government agencies and private parties (such as competitors and consumers) through treble (triple) damage actions. As the Sherman Act is a criminal conspiracy statute, an executive who attends a meeting at which competitors engage in illegal discussions may be held criminally responsible, even if he or she says nothing at the meeting. The executive's attendance at the meeting may be sufficient to imply acquiescence in the discussion, making him or her liable to as great a penalty as those who actively participated in the illegal agreement.

Common antitrust claims against associations include price-fixing (any explicit or implicit understanding affecting the price of a member's product or service is prohibited, even if the understanding would benefit consumers), group boycotts / concerted refusals to deal, customer allocation or territorial division, bid-rigging, and illegal tying arrangements. Antitrust-sensitive areas of association activity include membership restrictions, standard setting, certification and self-regulation, statistical surveys, and information exchange programs, among others.

To avoid antitrust liability, associations should adopt a formal antitrust compliance program, and this policy should be distributed regularly to all association officers, directors, committee members, and employees. The policy should require, among other conditions, that all association meetings be regularly scheduled - with agendas prepared in advance and reviewed by legal counsel - and that members be prohibited from holding "rump" meetings. Above all else, members should be free to make business decisions based on the dictates of the market - not the dictates of the association. Any deviation from this general principle, such as adoption of a Code of Ethics that infringes on members' ability to make fully independent business decisions, should be approved by legal counsel.

Confidentiality Information

Board members must not disclose to others, information that a board has determined to be confidential, such as communication between the association board, any individual providing a service to the association including legal counsel and the management firm, information specific to individual member companies, and minutes of executive sessions of the Board. The obligation to maintain confidentiality continues indefinitely.

Professional Code of Conduct

The Wisconsin Park & Recreation Association (WPRA) has provided leadership to the state and the nation in fostering the expansion of recreation and parks. WPRA has stressed the value of recreation, both active and passive, for individual growth and development. Its members are dedicated to the common cause of assuring that people of all ages and abilities have the opportunity to find the most satisfying use of their leisure time and enjoy an improved quality of life.

The State Association has consistently affirmed the importance of well-informed and professionally trained personnel to continually improve the administration of recreation and park programs. Members of WPRA are encouraged to support the efforts of the State Association and profession by supporting state affiliate and national activities and participating in continuing education opportunities, certification, and accreditation.

Membership in WPRA carries with it special responsibilities to the public at large, and to the specific communities and agencies in which recreation and park services are offered. As a member of the Wisconsin Park & Recreation Association,

All leaders on the WPRA Board of Directors accept and agree to abide by this Code of Ethics and pledge to:

- Adhere to the highest standards of integrity and honesty in all public and personal activities to inspire public confidence and trust.
- Strive for personal and professional excellence and encourage the professional development of associates and students.
- Strive for the highest standards of professional competence, fairness, impartiality, efficiency, effectiveness, and fiscal responsibility.
- Avoid any interest or activity which is in conflict with the performance of job responsibilities.

- Support equal employment opportunities.

Board of Directors & Executive Committee Description

Speaking With One Voice

A responsibility of each Board member is to ensure that their opinions and concerns are presented and understood when an issue is discussed and/or voted on. The Board will try to reach consensus, however, there will be times when consensus is not reached. These debates and disagreements should be conducted with due respect of other board members. Each director should agree to support the Board decision for what they are – Board decisions reached through a deliberative process. Board members should agree to support Board decisions and not actively speak against or act counter to the decisions.

Who Does What on the Board of Directors?

The Board of Directors carries out the purpose of WPRA and controls its affairs, pursuant to the Not-for-Profit Corporation Law of Wisconsin (where WPRA is incorporated). - Enhance the organization's public standing An organization's primary link to members, the public, and the media, is the board. Clearly articulating the organization's mission, accomplishments, and goals, as well as garnering support from important members of the community, are important elements of a comprehensive public relations strategy.

The Board of Directors is the policy making governing body of WPRA and makes important decisions and plays a leading role in the development of:

- Public Policy
- Advocacy
- Fundraising

Board of Directors Meetings

The Board of Directors has four official meetings each year. The annual meeting is held in conjunction with the WPRA Annual Conference & Trade Show.

Process to Get an Item Before the Board of Directors

Members often ask, "How does a WPRA member get an item before the Board of Directors?" The following alternatives may prove useful:

- 1. Before bringing an issue to the BOD make sure the BOD is the appropriate group to address your concern. Is this really an issue that relates more to one of the component groups?
- 2. If the issue is appropriate for the BOD, contact the appropriate section and/or region.
- 3. Contact a member of the appropriate BOD for action.
- 4. Contact a Director to bring the item before the Board.

Basic Steps in Board Decision Making

The WPRA Board of Directors follows the latest version of Robert's Rules of Order. All Board of Directors actions should take advantage of the expertise of all board members; make clear, well-thought out decisions; record decisions in meeting minutes; and communicate decisions to the appropriate parties. All decisions should be based on the WPRA mission and strategic plan and make the best decision for WPRA as a whole rather than a segmented area. Following are some of the basic steps in decision making.

- 1. Recognize and define the issue. Everyone should understand the issue. This may take time to articulate and define. Action Item background preparation is helpful.
- 2. Examine the issue. Most groups make better decisions if they have choices rather than having to select or reject one idea. Ideas and options can be generated beforehand or can be developed during a board meeting. Once alternatives have been identified, the board needs to consider the implications and consequences of each idea.
- 3. Make the decision. Following a thorough discussion of the issue and options, a formal motion is presented. A vote is taken on the motion. How the motion is framed shapes the scope of the discussion and can narrow the options. Issues can be approached in several different ways. A motion reduces these options to one, and limits the response to "yes" or "no". This may eliminate many important alternatives. The process of framing the question and the options is as important as the vote itself. Board members should not propose motions too early in the discussion before reviewing all the alternatives. Motions should be written and provided to the BOD Secretary. Consensus building is a less formal than voting procedure and allows a decision to encompass the views of all board members. A consensus process is designed to generate a wider range of ideas and options. The issue is framed as a question or problem with supporting information. Discussion centers on finding the best approach to the issue. In the course of discussion, the question may be reframed with various options developed, altered and combined.

Wisconsin Park & Recreation Association

- 4. Implement the decision. Plans for implementation need to consider what resources are required, the responsible party, time frame and action steps.
- Evaluate the decision. Specifying what worked well and what could be done better will improve the capacity of the association to make decisions and the quality of the decisions made.

Board of Directors Meeting Ground Rules

- Remain faithful and loyal to the WPRA mission
- Start and end meetings and breaks on time
- Be prepared for meetings
- Be respectful of others
- Be open, honest and ethical
- One person speaks at a time. WPRA follows Robert's Rules of Order
- Everyone engages and participates
- Debate the issue, not the person
- Be courageous, not fearful
- All discussions should have an identified purpose and outcome
- Decisions and outcomes must benefit the organization without personal interests
- Conduct business and make decisions based upon knowledge not assumptions
- When leaving the board meeting, speak with a unified voice
- Value humor

General Procedures

Quorum

A quorum for purposes of transacting business for the Board of Directors shall be fifty percent plus one. In the absence of a quorum, the President may adjourn the meeting until a quorum is obtained. Proxy voting is not allowed at any BOD meeting unless previously submitted and approved.

Work Plans

Within the guidelines established by the WPRA Bylaws and in support of the WPRA Strategic Plan, the BOD, section chairs and committee chairs will develop operational guidelines for carrying out board and committees' assigned responsibilities.

Board Member and Delegate Expenses

Members cover all of their own expenses associated with being a board member. WPRA generally has beverage breaks and on occasion will have snacks or lunch provided for a working board meeting or retreat. Conference calls are being used more frequently to conduct business. Expenses are covered by WPRA for authorized calls.

Reimbursement Requests

For a member to receive reimbursement from the WPRA for purchases within the allotted budget amounts that they were approved to personally make on behalf of the organization, a completed voucher must be approved then submitted to the WPRA office identifying which category or categories the expenses apply to.

All amounts MUST have sales tax included as WPRA is not sales tax exempt.
